WAR DEBT QUESTION UP AT WASHINGTON OCTOBER 5

Cabinet Problems Grow More Acute As Breach Widens

Premier's Plan Calls For Opposition to Finance Minister J. Jones

Will Fight Every Seat, Says Dr. Tolmie

Government Action on Major Matters Demands Governor's Intervention

Rapidly developing complications for Premier Tolmie and members of his government in the last few days have brought affairs to the state where discussions with any degree of unanimity on any subject are reported to be impossible. The right to act on any decision that might be arrived at, if an agreement could be reached, is challenged on the ground of the constitutional right of the government to embark upon any but routine business.

An announcement during the week-end by Premier Tolmie that the government would have a candidate in the field in every riding brings the discussion of J. W. Jones from the Tolmie party more strikingly to the fore. Premier Tolmie's announcement makes it impossible for Mr. Jones to now retain the office of Minister of Finance until the election as he said he would do his part in the political observers declare.

At Mr. Tolmie's insistence, it is now known that his appearance in the campaign as an independent meant that he would not run as a government candidate. He is now in the position where the government of which he remains a member will offer a candidate opposed to him. Mr. Jones has no alternative now but to resign his portfolio immediately, it is argued. The statements of the Finance Minister and Minister of Finance amount to a declaration of no confidence in each other, and in this case Mr. Jones cannot remain as a member of the government which he will oppose during the election campaign, and by which he will also be opposed as indicated by the Premier's statement that the government will have a man seeking election under its banner in every riding.

"This is a question," was all Mr. Jones would say in answer to a query as to whether he would resign if the Premier proceeded with his plan. It was reported that Mr. Jones was pre-

OAKLANDS WIN CADET AWARD

Local School Takes Provincial Honors For First Time By Large Margin

For the first time in the history of the school, the Oaklands cadet corps are provincial champions for 1933, according to advice received to-day by Major A. C. Hunter, supervisor of physical training for the Victoria schools.

The Oaklands squad scored 879 points out of a possible 1,000 and displaced King Edward High School, of Vancouver, as holders of the I.O.D.E. trophy.

Other Victoria schools figured prominently in the competition this year. North Saanich was second, Victoria Park was sixth and Quadra eighth.

King Edward High School got second place, fourteen points behind Oaklands and Kitsilano was third with one point less.

The inspection took place in June, with Capt. E. McBrady officiating. A. J. Stevenson is the cadet instructor at Oaklands School and R. McInnes the principal of the school.

WHEAT BOARD IN SESSION

Robert W. Bingham Named Chairman; A. Cairns, Canadian Secretary

Canadian Press Cable London, Sept. 18.—Canada and four other countries are represented to-day at the annual meeting of the Wheat Advisory Committee, of which Robert W. Bingham, United States Ambassador to Great Britain, was appointed chairman.

The committee was established to take over the application of the recently-signed world wheat agreement.

This agreement bound producers to reduce use of wheat.

Other exporting countries represented at the meeting were United States, Argentina, Australia, Soviet Russia, Hungary, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Roumania. The importers were Great Britain, France, Italy, Spain, Switzerland and one of the Scandinavian countries.

Andrew Cairns, former statistician of the Canadian Wheat Pool, will be secretary of the advisory committee.

The budgetary sub-committee, consisting of representatives of Canada, Australia and Switzerland, is engaged in working out financial details in connection with the secretariat.

B.C. POWER CO. EARNINGS DOWN

President Murrin Believes Reasonably Improved Business May Be Anticipated

Canadian Press Toronto, Sept. 18.—Reduction in gross and net earnings is reported by British Columbia Power Company Limited for the first half of the year.

After all charges, earnings per share for dividend on class A shares amounted to $1.54 a share, contrasted with dividend requirements of $2 and net of $2.01 per share in the previous year.

Gross earnings were $12,825,553 compared with $14,567,842. Operating expenses were reduced from $10,500,000 in August, according to the monthly report of the department just completed.

There were 752 families listed under married men's relief during the month, as compared with 806 in August last year.

In July this year there were 810 families, against 706 last year, which was an increase.

The decrease from July to August was fifty-eight families.

In the months of March, April, May and June, the family lists were greater than the corresponding months last year.

The total of single men show a reduction for the last two months.

In July they dropped from 847 to 430, and in August from 503 to 439.

CONVENTION OF TRUSTEES OPENS

Mayor Sims of Courtenay Welcomes Delegates to Annual Meeting

Canadian Press Courtenay, B.C., Sept. 18.—A plea in support of Christian instruction in the curriculums of British Columbia schools by Mayor Charles Sims of Courtenay, featured the opening of the annual convention of the B.C. School Trustees Association here to-day.

Approximately 100 delegates were in the association.

The mayor also protested against land owners bearing the full cost of education, suggesting that income too should bear part of the burden.

J. P. Carr of Matsqui, first vice-president of the association, replied that while the trustees agreed that moral instruction was desirable they felt it was the parents' function to decide what should be taught.

Other speakers included Dr. J. K. McNaughton, M.P.P., and J. W. McKenzie, chairman of the Courtenay school board.

Canadian Press Ottawa, Sept. 18.—One hundred and seventeen delegates from all the important railway centres of Canada met here to-day at the convention of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees. Mr. Jones, a native of Wales, has been a citizen of Kelowna for more than twenty years, and has served on the city council several times.

Mr. Jones is also anxious to complete as soon as possible New York State's power project on the St. Lawrence.

It is estimated the state's share of the water power under the treaty will generate 1,100,000 horse power, with a larger yield of "firm power," that is, power available at all times; than

BOYCOTT

Boycotts against American firms were invoked at Manzanillo, where a general walkout was set for to-day. Communists in Santiago threatened to seize American mills and banks and all American women were taken for safety to Renfe, across the bay from Santiago. Unrest grew in a number of other places.

Meanwhile, there were reports a compromise could be effected between President Ramon Grau San Martin, and the opposition factions which seek his retirement—the Nationalists of Col. Carlos Mendez, the followers of former President Mario G. Menocal, the ABC and OCCR secret societies, and others.

It was understood in high political circles that their newest plan reiterated the President's make-way for a "truly national" government representing all factions.

Along with industrial unrest and the administration situation, a third problem remained to be settled, as irritants as the others.

That concerned 500 army and navy officers barricaded and besieged in the National Hotel for a week. They insist Grau San Martin step down in favor of Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, who in mid-August followed Gerardo Machado in the presidency.

Political Paragraphs

A tax-free British Columbia is visited by Mr. Browne. British Columbia is in theory, one of the richest natural resource provinces in Canada. Actually its resources are the private property of the Ontario government. Mr. Browne says to support his argument that little things like motor license fees, meal wage and income levies should not annoy its citizens.

Mr. Browne would abolish the B.C. Department of Agriculture and have the work to the federal government, complete the P.G.E. into Vancouver, and change the system under which Greater Vancouver with a population of 300,000 has nine members in the Legislature, and the rest of the province, with only 50,000 more, has thirty-eight members.

Reports from the North Okanagan area indicate that only acknowledged Conservatives will be approved by Conservatives who participate in "Independent" conventions. When George Heggie, the leading Conservative member, was defeated in the election by Matt Hassen, auctioneer, at an independent convention at Armstrong, plans to put in another ticket with Mr. Heggie's name on, as a Conservative or an independent were made by his friends in the party.

Politicians in the North Okanagan have simplified the fight as between Liberals, and Independents and the C.G.P. with Conservatives out of the picture. They are suspicious of the Independents Group, fearing R. W. Bruhn or William McKenzie may be elected the leader through having held cabinet positions thus stripping the new group of its independent camouflage and disclosing the Conservative Party behind it.

Capt. Anthony Eden, Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, represents Great Britain. Speaking for France are President Edouard Herriot, Minister of Foreign Affairs and Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour. Norman H. Davis is the United States spokesman.

Reports United States will support the control scheme and a change in the British attitude since a demand was made to stop a propaganda bombardment of Australia have heartened official French. The conference will arrive at definite results or, informed quarters say, will be lost in war clouds.

FIRM STAND.

It was understood Capt. Eden had received a full report by telephone of the meeting London to-day between Prime Minister Macdonald and Mr. Davis.

The Liberal campaign in the Region riding, after months of the thorough preparation on the part of the candidate, C. E. Whitney-Griffiths, and the officers of his organization, is now early.

It was thought to concern the U.S. administration's decision regarding support in principle for a French arms supervision plan as a preliminary to arms reductions proposed in the project Mr. Macdonald placed before the Geneva Disarmament Conference.

Mr. Davis left shortly before noon for Paris—a half hour after the close of the interview—to engage in conversations with French and British representatives.

Five members of the party, A. Stephenson, formerly with the Wilkins Expedition in Greenland, P. A. Shepherd W. Morgan, W. A. Grinstead and J. E. Kennedy, arrived in an airplane piloted by Matt Berry.

LEADER DELAYED

Dr. J. M. Stagg, leader of the expedition, will return by river boat with the valuable instruments used in investigations and is expected to arrive in October.

Results of their observations will not be revealed until the voluminous data on meteorology, terrestrial magnetism, aurora and atmospheric electricity is analyzed after their return to England, the scientist stated.

"We simply made the observations and collected the data," Mr. Grinstead said. "The results of our work will come out later."

In all 4,000 double photographs of the northern lights were taken by means of a camera on either end of a telegraphic line placed twenty miles apart. Cameras and instruments were focused on the stars and the photographs taken instantaneously. Thus by means of triangulation the distance and action of the northern lights could be estimated.

Mr. Evans had previously announced his intention of seeking a seat in the Legislature.

This, officials of the Attorney-General's office believed, would contest his election.

Mr. Evans was found guilty at the Vernon Assizes of advocating the use of force to obtain government industrial economic changes while acting as an organized mine workers' union at Princeton last fall.

At a meeting held at Courtenay Sunday, H. G. Russell, farmer of Courtenay, was nominated to run as the United Front candidate in the Comox constituency.

While Premier Tolmie is launching an "Eat More Beef" slogan Klamloops Board of Trade is calling for a beef inspection. It complains that an Alberta instead of a British Columbia firm has secured the contract to supply unemployment camps in the district.

The interesting point is raised in another column as to what position Hon. J. W. Jones finds himself now in view of Premier Tolmie's announcement that he will contest his own seat. As Mr. Jones has announced he will run as an independent in the South Okanagan, evidently lined up with the group opposing the government, his position becomes more complicated than ever. The resignation which should have accompanied Mr. Jones' announcement cannot now be effected as political observers claim.

The Man in the Moon from Prince Rupert breaks into rhyme on the new Independents line. Here it is:

The Independents,
Mostly Tories
Or descendants of the rich, too
Simply smiled,
While the people
Were beguiled.
Come and join
And happy be.
Here and in Eternity.

It is difficult to see how the men who supported the Tolmie government up to the final session of its administration can now say they are not in agreement with the Tolmie policies and are opposed to him and his leadership in the present election campaign.

News. "Tolmie is so very bad now he must have been bad then. While we do not believe any party or group can remain static, a revision of beliefs on the part of a number of ministers of the crown looks more like personal self-seeking than a real change of heart."

"We share the belief with thousands of others," proceeds the editor, "that all the former ministers of the Tolmie administration are equally responsible for the present condition of the province and also for its administration."

French industrial interests assert a 15 per cent import surtax may be invoked to equalize inflation, but newspapers said it is being held in abeyance to avoid an "unfavorable interpretation" in the United States.

Vancouver, Sept. 18.—A former president of the British Columbia Medical Association, Dr. V. E. D. Casselman is dead here. A well-known Vancouver physician, he was sixty.

The funeral will be held Wednesday from Chown United Church.

Dr. Casselman was born in Brockville, Ont. His widow, one son and two daughters survive.

French Hope For Three Power Front

Arms Conference Will Reopen on Monday Next at Geneva; Definite Results Expected

By Melvin K. Whiteleather
Associated Press

Paris, Sept. 18.—A three-power front on disarmament was the hope of French leaders to-day as British and United States representatives joined them in conversations preliminary to reopening of the Arms Conference in Geneva next Monday.

French newspapers and legislators have pointed to the North Sea as the border, and what they call the possibility of early completion of a German air raid as making imperative a firm stand against any concessions to request.

Federal Credit Expansion Efforts Progress on Four Well-defined Fronts

Associated Press
Washington, Sept. 18.—Federal credit expansion efforts progressed on four well-defined fronts over the weekend.

At the Reconstruction Commission, $300,000,000 was made available for loans to industry through banks and trust and mortgage companies.

The Federal Reserve Board continued its policy of increasing banks' reserve deposits through purchases of government securities.

At the Treasury, officials co-ordinated efforts to have every bank, not hopelessly insolvent, on a sound basis by January 1.

The public works administration

pressed for faster expenditure of its

$3,000,000,000 fund as a means of putting money into industrial and trade channels.

In addition to these, Chairman Pat

Harrison of the Senate finance committee indicated his belief some monetary inflation may be undertaken at an early date to help raise commodity

prices.

Josef Jones' chairman, who announced the RFC's new liberalized

credit policy, described it as "inflation—in the form of credit." His plan

involved emergency 3 per cent loans

for up to six-month periods to banks

and trust and mortgage companies

designed to lend the money to in-

MUSICAL CHALLENGE

Munich, Germany, Sept. 18 (Associated Press)—An Oompah, German Nazis believe, is only a musical note but many compacts blared by an Austrian band on the German frontier are a challenge to any German to try to pet to come to the aid of the party.

According to an Austrian newspaper, an Austrian band was to play for tourists on the Austrian side of the Zugspitze highest peak in the Bavarian Alps. German Nazis sent a band to the summit ahead of the Austrian band. The Nazis received their competitors with a crescendo of Nazi marches.

Until nightfall Nazi and Austrian compacts blared forth.

LIONESS KILLS TEXAN HORSES

Canadian Press
Houston, Texas, Sept. 18.—Five horses and a pack of hounds were among the hundred animals of a herd which swept the ranch home of W. A. "Snake" King Jr., near Brownsville. King said Saturday the animals were killed by a captive lioness liberated by the storm. King then shot the lioness.

FRANCE BUYS U.S. COTTON

Associated Press
New York, Sept. 18.—B. Coles Neidecker, American international banker with headquarters in Paris, will arrive

Wednesday to negotiate purchase by French interests of 3,000,000 bales of cotton. His associates said he would go directly to Washington to complete the negotiations.

The credit arrangements under discussion for the cotton deal are based partly on the wheat formula used by

Neidecker when he represented a grain cartel in purchasing 50,000,000 bushels of wheat from the United States Farm Board two years ago.

The basic structure of the wheat credit formula were inter-governmental credits and an exchange of foreign commodities for American wheat.

The public works administration

pressed for faster expenditure of its

$3,000,000,000 fund as a means of putting money into industrial and trade channels.

In addition to these, Chairman Pat

Harrison of the Senate finance committee indicated his belief some monetary

inflation may be undertaken at an early date to help raise commodity

prices.

Josef Jones' chairman, who announced the RFC's new liberalized

credit policy, described it as "inflation—in the form of credit." His plan

involved emergency 3 per cent loans

for up to six-month periods to banks

and trust and mortgage companies

designed to lend the money to industry for meeting material and personal charges and to "assist merchants especially affected by the NRA."

PUBLIC WORKS PLAN IS URGED

Issue of Currency to Take People Off Breadline, Advocated By Stewart

Canadian Press
Lethbridge, Alta., Sept. 18.—Issue of currency for the payment of public works to the extent of stimulating business in Canada is advocated by Mr. Charles Stewart, M.P. for West Edmonton and former Minister of the Interior, in order that $300,000 of our people on the bread line might find a place in society.

Mr. Stewart made this suggestion in an address to a large meeting here.

THE GOVERNMENT AND MR. JONES

Where does Premier Tolmie's declaration, reported in yesterday morning's issue of the morning newspaper, that the government would contest every constituency of the province in the provincial election, leave Hon. J. W. Jones? The Minister of Finance has publicly announced his intention of running as an independent instead of as a supporter of the government, as Hon. Mr. Pooley, Attorney-General, is doing. If the government contests every constituency it must be through candidates pledged to support it, and Mr. Jones says he will not run under such auspices. Hence, the government must have a candidate in South Okanagan in opposition to Hon. J. W. Jones, the independent. How on earth, then, can Mr. Jones remain in the ministry another twenty-four hours in the light of the Premier's statement that the government will contest every constituency in the province by candidates who necessarily must be pledged to support it?

The whole thing is preposterous and, as such, is bringing government in British Columbia into a measure of disrepute which must reflect upon the credit of the province. It is hard to believe that responsible government means so little across James Bay, and the conclusion bluntly drawn by the man in the street is that the impelling motive behind this unexampled situation is one of purely personal interest; that the sole consideration is one of salary to the last solitary red cent. In its reflection of inaptitude and disregard of governmental responsibility to the public it furnishes an eloquent explanation of the sort of government this province has had in the last five years. Unhappily, the goats of this unprecedented situation are the people of British Columbia, many of whom can not even balance their domestic budgets, let alone pay their taxes.

It is reported in The Vancouver Province that the government, which has not even a Legislature, and which should do nothing but mark time until a new one is elected, actually contemplates presenting to the Lieutenant-Governor for his signature a warrant for a large expenditure on roads and highways. Such authority certainly should not be given. The government should not be permitted to commit this province to any special expenditure of public funds other than that which will be needed to defray the cost of an election, for the money, which would be expended would have to be borrowed at high rates of interest and would be merely another mill-stone thrown about the necks of the taxpayers.

YOUTH AND RURAL LIFE

An interesting feature of the exhibition at the Willows which closed on Saturday was the contribution by young people in several lines of agricultural activity, notably in livestock and farm produce.

This is a healthy sign. It shows that the youth of the province understand that our fertile acres offer them at least a living and a measure of contentment which has been denied many city dwellers during the last three years.

After all, if there is to be a real back-to-the-land movement which will more evenly distribute our population, much of its impetus will have to come from the youth of the province. It is unreasonable to expect men and women who have been used to city life and all that goes with it to go out to a farm, even under the most favorable auspices, and make much of a success of it. Some people, of course, are able to adapt themselves to almost any conditions and succeed in anything to which they may put their hands. But these are in the minority.

The government would be well advised to give this phase of the administration of its Department of Agriculture careful thought. Every possible encouragement and assistance should be given to the province's youth in the rural sciences.

It is being realized now more than ever that while the farmer in a big way has been confronted with very discouraging difficulties, the man with a moderate amount of land producing diversified products, has been able to regard the depression from a different standpoint from that of city dwellers.

British Columbia's population at present is concentrated for the most part in four or five coast cities. Only when there are more people on the land will the industrialized areas develop as they should. If the farm is neglected, the factory immediately feels the effect.

The fine part youth has taken in this last exhibition is a hopeful sign.

THE "FORGOTTEN MAN"

When Mr. Roosevelt was campaigning in the United States last fall he was hailed as the presidential aspirant who wanted to do something for the "forgotten man"—the under dog or the common folk.

President Roosevelt has not guaranteed that his national recovery campaign will be one hundred per cent successful. But the co-operation he is getting, the results which already are manifesting themselves, must be encouraging to him. At least his policies are sending thousands of hitherto "forgotten men" back to work and the outlook of the people as a whole has become very considerably brighter. The psychological effect of this, of course, is of the utmost importance.

Even if the President's plan is only seventy-five per cent, or even fifty per cent, successful, it will have justified its trial and the experience gained will naturally permit of the rectification of mistakes and the supplanting of old policies by new ones.

The difference between the Hoover policy and the Roosevelt policy is that the former was one of stagnation, while the latter is one of bold and constructive action. The result is that perhaps the most "forgotten man" in the United States at the present time is former President Hoover.

THEY WANT PEACE

Sceptics will continue to tell us that peace pacts and non-aggression treaties are little better than so much waste paper; but the more there are of them the better the chance of general international harmony. The latest is a non-aggression undertaking between Greece and Turkey, and it is to remain in effect for ten years.

Greek and Turkish Prime Ministers and the Foreign Secretaries of both countries signed the document. The preamble sets out that they shall pursue their respective policies of cordial friendship, understanding and collaboration, drawing their inspiration from the spirit of the Briand-Kellogg pact, thus giving "new and solemn proof of their attachment to the cause of peace."

Now, about ten years ago, Greece and Turkey were bitter enemies. If it had been said at that time that in 1933 they would be pledging themselves to the cause of peace generally and to the cause of cordial friendship, understanding and collaboration between themselves in particular, it would have been considered quite out of the question. But it has come to pass. There is no guarantee that these two countries will honor their covenant; but the chances are that they will.

This further example of burying the hatchet, in any event, is a good omen. It follows closely the agreement between Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy to keep the peace of Europe for ten years. If only the big-army and big-navy advocates and the tools of the armament trust could be effectively subdued, there would be no doubt of the government will contest every constituency that the province by candidates who necessarily must be pledged to support it.

The whole thing is preposterous and, as such, is bringing government in British Columbia into a measure of disrepute which must reflect upon the credit of the province. It is hard to believe that responsible government means so little across James Bay, and the conclusion bluntly drawn by the man in the street is that the impelling motive behind this unexampled situation is one of purely personal interest; that the sole consideration is one of salary to the last solitary red cent. In its reflection of inaptitude and disregard of governmental responsibility to the public it furnishes an eloquent explanation of the sort of government this province has had in the last five years. Unhappily, the goats of this unprecedented situation are the people of British Columbia, many of whom can not even balance their domestic budgets, let alone pay their taxes.

It is reported in The Vancouver Province that the government, which has not even a Legislature, and which should do nothing but mark time until a new one is elected, actually contemplates presenting to the Lieutenant-Governor for his signature a warrant for a large expenditure on roads and highways. Such authority certainly should not be given. The government should not be permitted to commit this province to any special expenditure of public funds other than that which will be needed to defray the cost of an election, for the money, which would be expended would have to be borrowed at high rates of interest and would be merely another mill-stone thrown about the necks of the taxpayers.

Another attempt is being made to get Samuel Insull to come back to the United States and answer for the way in which hundreds of millions of dollars of other people's money have been thrown away, and it looks, this time, as if the effort might be successful.

It would be gratifying to many, of course, to see Insull appear before the bar of justice. But there is no sense in letting all of the public's indignation over the losses caused by shifty financiers be concentrated on his head.

For Mr. Insull, after all, was only a symptom of an underlying malady. When a country goes in for frenzied finance it is bound to have its Insull cases; and to focus all anger on the man himself instead of on the system under which he operated is to miss the point entirely.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

HUBBY IGNORED

The Buzzer

Quite a number of women have achieved high political honors during the last few years, but so far we do not recall that even one of them ever publicly proclaimed: "All that I am I owe to my husband."

FRENCH ARCHITECTURE

The Le Canada (Montreal)

The French aspect of Quebec is not solely due to the French language on signs and notices; it requires also a suitable type of architecture in churches, houses and public buildings. The majority of the churches built before 1860 in our province have a special style, a typical character; most of these that have arisen since then are of peculiar architecture. Many of them you might think were built by maniacs. Houses have become uglier and uglier. They have no particular style; they are neither associated with our ancient rural dwelling, nor with the colonial house of New England, nor even the Indian wigwam. They have nothing in view but service; appearance means nothing; they are there to serve only the driest utilitarian purposes; and where the architect tries to make them particularly beautiful, that is when they become particularly ugly. Everywhere we see a style born of every type of ignorance, pretentious and otherwise. Before such a display the educated visitor must shrug his shoulders as he says: "So this is New France!"

MAN'S SUPERIORITY

The Edmonton Journal

Girls, said the instructors when the learn-to-swim campaign began, pick up swimming more rapidly than do boys. Results more or less proved their contention.

Girls, an investigator announced the other day, sleep better than boys—but whether this is supposed to be a worthwhile achievement, is hard to say.

Women, according to the testimony of local surgeons piled on top of that of their confers elsewhere, as reported in The Journal some little time ago, bear the pains and agonies of the operating table more stoically than do men. Perhaps it's just their ability to "sleep better" as suggested previously, although no one wishes to admit one whit from their heroism.

A woman writer announces in a magazine with a large circulation in Canada and the United States, that women are or soon will be better contract bridge players than men.

An American professor remarks—for no reason at all—that not one woman appears among the world's twelve greatest liars.

But until women cease from climbing the nearest table on the appearance of a mouse, all men will retain unruffled their sense of calm superiority.

Loose Ends

You don't appreciate your advantages—and the greatest show on earth, now being presented free of charge for your amusement—a young man speaks out and more nonsense is talked about youth.

UNGRATEFUL WRETCH

YOU REALLY don't half appreciate your opportunities. I mean to say, do you ever pause and consider that you are privileged to front seat in the most remarkable electoral show in the history of your province, that without admission charge, you are witnessing grave constitutional crises, rich human dramas and screaming farce all on one stage at the same time?

Do you ever realize that British Columbia is going through a period which will be forever memorable, over which historians will write and schoolboys of the next generation will chuckle merrily? Do you know that you are living through what will be called in our history the "stirring days of '33"? No, you don't. You are not in the least stirred. The show is going completely over your head, poor

YET, if you should live to be about a hundred and twenty you may read a perfectly accurate chapter in a history of British Columbia which will run something like this: "The year 1933 produced confusion, perhaps unprecedented in the constitutional history of the British Empire. It produced a government in office without a party; a government remaining in power and conducting an election though it was not contesting most of the electoral seats and hence could claim no shadow of public support; one of the chief ministers of the government repudiating it, announcing his independence and still staying in the cabinet; and finally the prime minister enduring this unparalleled insult without a murmur and apparently with approval."

"And yet," the historian will say, "so far as the current records show, the populace was strangely calm under this provocation and, incredible as it seems to us, went about its business apparently without realizing that anything out of the ordinary was afoot. The constitutional revolution, it seems, was accomplished without the least trouble because the citizens were occupied with what was called in those days 'the depression' and the world recurred from time to time then and many went hungry because the people, strange as it appears to us, had not learned to use the wealth and goods which surrounded them on all sides."

"So far as records show, responsible government was temporarily abrogated, the constitution torn up and government itself made a ridiculous spectacle without bloodshed of any kind in the memorable crisis of '33." And you, reading this account, will say, it is all nonsense, that nothing out of the way happened in '33; though you may remember that times were just a little hard.

YOUNG MAN

THE OTHER DAY on the Vancouver boat I fell to talking with a young fellow about eighteen years old, just out of high school. It is not often that boys of this age will talk to you and the intellectual condition of their generation is usually a complete mystery to their elders.

"I see in the papers the other day," said he, "that the debt of British Columbia is now about $160,000,000, and going up all the time. Say, who is going to pay that off?"

"Who do you think?" I said.

"Well, the paper says most of the money is borrowed for twenty and thirty years. That means it won't be paid off until I'm forty forty."

"You get the idea," I said.

"So we're going to have to pay it?" he said. "But, honestly, why should we? What good has all that borrowing done us, I'd like to know? Most of us can't even get a job. Why should we pay taxes half our lifetime for all that?"

The house is old, the house is frail, its stricken timbers quake and quail.

At every gout and every gale,

Like a breeze of life,

It is laid,

Open to pillage, sore afraid,

In all its parts aghast, dismayed,

In a free thought of strife.

The house is old, but ah, I see,

The beauty that comes with age,

Within its shining walls for me.

In days when it was new!

So far as the house is fair,

Because the tenant dwelling there,

Untouched by weariness or care,

Is plain before my view.

The house is old; some never guess

How much it cost to build,

Enduring through all change, all stress,

Agoe through that place;

As long as I hold it dear,

For me these charms will strong grow.

A SURE ROAD to Independence

DURING the past few years most men have learned some bitter lessons in economics. Speculation is not Thrift. Of all your material possessions, life insurance gives you the least cause for worry. No doubt it is more appreciated than ever before because you know it is always worth par.

Now is the time to lay the foundation for your future independence. Buy dollars for delivery at age 55, 60 or later. A Long Term Endowment, which gives you protection as well as saving, is a sure road to independence.

Inquest Over R. D. Syme at Ladysmith Is Dramatic Session

Stabbing Victim Tried to Force Girl's Bedroom, Jury Is Told

Special to The Times

Ladysmith, Sept. 18.—Events leading up to the death here on September 7 of R. Douglas Syme, knife victim, were dramatically described at the inquest Saturday when the coroner's jury returned a verdict that the young man had been stabbed by "person or persons unknown."

Louis Poulin, Belgian, who is charged with murder of Syme, took the stand at the hearing to make his statement despite the customary warning of Coroner H. Hickling.

He told of meeting Mr. and Mrs. Syme at a beer parlor on the night in question. Afterwards they went to the Poulin home with Anton Lavandusky and danced to gramophone music.

When they left the house to return to the beer parlor, Syme separated from the party to get some wine he had hidden in Poulin's home.

The next thing he knew was when Adolphe, his son, arrived at the beer parlor and told him that Syme was trying to force his way into the bedroom of the young Poulin girl.

The Poulin family left for home immediately and Poulin met Syme at the gate, telling him to get out.

ACCUSES POLICE

When other witnesses were testifying, Poulin questioned them and at one time, in examination of Constable Thomas Byatt, declared the police were trying to put a rope around his neck. Constable Byatt said when he arrived

BIG CEREMONY TO OPEN PARK

Extensive Programme Planned For Official Affair at Bullen's Park

Band Will Attend; Mrs. R. H. Pooley to Officiate

The beautiful new Fitzherbert Bullen Park of Esquimalt, located on Lyall Street near Fraser, which was built during the last few months by public subscription and generous donations from Mrs. R. H. Pooley and Lady Barnard, will be opened at a public ceremony to be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The function will be attended by the school children of the municipality and will include the official ceremonies and a sports programme, which has been arranged by a special committee of the municipal council.

Mrs. Pooley will act as the opening, which will be seconded by Reeve Albert Head and members of the council, and other municipal and civic dignitaries who have been invited. Invitations have also been sent to all who subscribe to the park fund.

A band composed of members of the sixteenth Canadian Scottish brass band will be in attendance and a relay race, including a relay race and 4 o'clock, will include a relay race and relay events for the school children and an exhibition of physical drill. The feature of this card will be a one-mile relay for school teams.

At 4 o'clock a soccer game has been arranged between the Esquimalt Football Club and an all-star team from Victoria.

MUSICAL ART GROUPS BUSY

Intermediate and Juveniles Resume Gatherings; Excellent Programmes Saturday

The Intermediate and Juvenile branches of the Victoria Musical Art Society resumed their meetings on Saturday, the first after the vacation, both branches revealing an enthusiasm which augurs well for the success of the coming season.

INTERMEDIATES BUSY

The intermediates met in the evening at the New Thought Hall, Miss Dorothy McLean, president, presiding. Mrs. McLean, who is also president of the senior branch, gave an address of welcome and wished the members a most successful year.

An attractive programme arranged by Billy Ingles was much enjoyed and included numbers by the guest artists, Mrs. Jameson, Miss Dorothy Parsons, Betty Cuthbert, singing solo solos, Miss Maquinna Daniels and Miss Olive Campbell playing the accompaniments.

Vocal solos were given by Margaret Worth; recitations by Lucile MacKay; piano solos by Marjorie Dixon and Christine Schmeltz, and Phyllis Hadfield and Kenneth Cave were the accompanists.

JUVENILE BRANCH

The Juvenile Branch of the Victoria Musical Art Society had the first meeting of the season yesterday afternoon in the New Thought Hall. The present executive was re-elected by acclamation, as follows: President, Geraldine Patterson; vice-president, Marian Patterson; programme convener, Georgina Dowdall; secretary, Anna Hughes; treasurer, Irene Squire.

After the business meeting, a short musical programme was enjoyed, the opening group being recitations, "The

Red and White Setting For Autumn Wedding

Miss Ona A. Duncan Married Saturday Evening to Mr. Frederick Hugh Francis

Pretty Ceremony at First United Church Followed By Small Reception

Unusually beautiful decorations in a color scheme of red and white transformed the First United Church into a bower of flowers for the ceremony on Saturday evening at 8.30 o'clock which united in marriage Ona Alberta, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Duncan, Queens Avenue, and Mr. Frederick Hugh Francis, only son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Francis, 16 Avenue. Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., performed the ceremony in the presence of many friends of the popular young couple.

Gladoli, dahlias and other autumn flowers in shades of red and white were massed in colorful effect on the three-tiered rostrum, while the bride and groom stood beneath an arbor of white roses and asters.

Mr. Jack Smith, the organist, played the bridal marches, and as the register was being signed, Mr. F. W. Francis, the groom, and the ushers, were the groomsman and the ushers.

Mr. W. G. Wilson, D.D., performed the ceremony in the presence of many friends of the popular young couple.

ty-six Competitors Take Part in Successful Highland Events

Piping and Piping Events Draw Large Crowds; Committee Satisfied

The Highland Festival held on Saturday in conjunction with Scott's Day at the Provincial Exhibition, was an unqualified success. Sponsored by the Burns Club Victoria and patterned after large Highland gatherings in other cities, it attracted a large crowd. Members of the committee in charge of the event expressed themselves more than satisfied with the number of competitors and the standard of both the piping and the dancing. Sixty-two persons entered the various events.

Over 600 people witnessed the piping and piping events which were held in the House Show Building. The pipe of the different tartans that the pipers wore combined to form a pleasant picture in the dancing competitions, and when the competitors gathered in pairs to await their turn to perform, the success of the affair was largely due to the efforts of John Dewar and H. Mearns, secretary and treasurer of the Victoria Association. Judges for the piping events were Col. Ross Napier, Alex Muirhead of Victoria and Major Gillis, W. Paul, both of Vancouver, and Alex Muirhead of Victoria.

Results of the various classes are as follows:

The Shining Talent

By ELEANOR EARLY

(Copyright, 1929, by NEA Service Inc.)

"Marriage is an awful gamble," she declared. "Children are all that make it worth while. Oh, Molly, I'm so anxious to have you see little Rita. I suppose all mothers think their babies are beautiful, but, honestly, Rita is a most unusual child. She's extraordinary in looks for her age. And she has the dearest little smile. I think she's rather like me. I think—except that she's ever so much prettier. And gayer than I was when I was little. She's like a fairy, and just as good as gold. I know you'll love her, Molly."

There was something said in Rita's voice, and wistful. "You couldn't help loving my baby," she said.

"Why of course I couldn't," declared Molly warmly. "I'd love her because she's yours. Rita, if she was the prettiest little thing that ever lived."

"Oh, she's beautiful!" murmured Rita. "Absolutely beautiful. People stop on the street to look at her, Molly—perfect strangers."

Other girls came then to join them, and they were not alone again until that evening in Rita's apartment. The baby, soft and pink and beautiful, slept rosily in her small pink bed. Bob had come home for dinner, but left shortly afterward to keep an appointment with a client. Rita was smoking cigarettes and making animated conversation.

"You oughtn't to smoke so much," protested Molly. "It makes you cough." Rita laughed unpleasantly.

"Tobacco won't hurt me any," she declared.

Then, nervously, she scuffed out the cigarette she had just lighted.

"It's t.b." she said abruptly. "That's why I wanted to see you."

"A couple years ago I had an X-ray. The doctor said if I stayed in bed, I might be able to arrest it. But, lord, who wants to stay in bed? It's no fun living, if you have to be careful all the time."

So I kept on working, and I never told Bob or anyone. I was killing myself that I wasn't getting any better. I was getting worse. I was feeling better, by and Rita was born. I started getting worse afterward."

"Last week I went to see the doctor again. It's in the other lung now. And that . . . that's curtains."

Horrified, Molly looked at her.

"But, darling, have you only one lung? Why, he's wrong."

"Oh, no, he's not wrong. X-rays don't lie. But it's about my last want to talk to you. When I die, will you take her?"

The bombshell launched, Rita sought Molly's eyes.

"It's no use asking anyone else," she continued. "Bob's not here. He's helpless. He can't help it. He doesn't blame him. He isn't a family sort of man. Responsibility smothers him."

"They've given me twelve months to live. Molly. There's no danger to little Rita. I've had her under constant observation ever since she was born. She's 100 per cent perfect. If Rita has a chance, she'll be all right."

"It's a question of environment with children. When I was little, Molly, there were times when I didn't get enough to eat. No milk, no eggs—those are the things children need. That's why I'm asking you to take my baby."

"My dear . . . my dear . . ." Molly's arms were around her friend. "I'll do anything in the world you want me to. But you mustn't talk about dying. Rita needs a rest. A complete change. Come to Italy with me."

Rita laughed mirthlessly. "I'll tell you, you haven't the sense you were born with. If it's impediments to you, why don't you take your mother?"

"She wouldn't go. You've no idea how she disapproves of me."

Rita chuckled.

"It's marvelous how a few cabarets and good dressmakers can change a woman's point of view. Parents would do your mother a lot of good. It's outrageous the way she acted the night your play opened—but honestly, Molly, it's a shame about middle-aged women someimes. They're just too respect-able to be human."

"That's exactly what I think," agreed Molly. "We decided there must be something redeeming about skin. Something that inclines sinners to pity and understanding."

"It's lucky for you," observed Rita, "your mother never guessed what a precocious child she had. It's dreadful the way mothers and daughters drift apart. I know more about this mother stuff than most. I know, though, what it means to have a child. If I should live to grow old, and see my daughter turn away from me, as you've turned from your mother, I swear I'd rather die than chance it."

"But I didn't turn away from her," protested Molly. "You know perfectly well. Rita Melonette, that if she were a normal parent, she'd be proud of me, instead of despising me."

Rita smiled. "Parents are old-fashioned," she declared. "They call me modern, wouldn't you? Well, I'd be sorry if Rita, when she was nineteen, should turn her adolescent attention

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1933

Contending planetary influences disturb this day, according to astrology. Benefits

In the early morning the stars smile on applicants for work. Many persons should be successful.

This is primarily an unfavorable rule for women, but men, foretold that many places in shops and factories will put men in places long held by girls.

Business and the economic world are to come true.

This is a most auspicious sway for all who launch new projects. Merchants and manufacturers will profit greatly.

Lawyers, accountants, brokers and contractors—continue under a fortunate rule. All summer and the autumn profitable, it is indicated.

The evening of this day is read as most propitious for public entertainments in honor of men and women in world affairs.

Hotel owners and managers are to have a profitable fall season, for there will be much travel to key cities of the world of trade.

Germany and Italy are to benefit through foreign trade, and the economic world, after mid-summer, it is prognosticated.

Fashion fabrics are to be introduced by winter, and the new styles, introduced in the fall, will profit through modes that are more extraordinary.

Business will be revived and will be come a pastime in the United States, according to the seers, who prophesy many other returns to older feminine avocations.

Persons whose birthdate is in the month of August or September, certain obstacles must be overcome before success.

Children born on this day probably will be successful and intelligent. Subjects of this sign are to be lawbreakers, exact and successful.

Key positions, Union and State, were held by Rita on this day, 1932. Other events will be a birthday inclusion.

BIG CAST IN "LET'S GO"

Gala Performance to Be Staged at the Royal Friday For Injured Rugby Player

"Let's Go," a smart musical show, will be seen at the Royal Victoria Theatre, Friday evening. "Let's Go" is a benefit performance for Johnny Rowland, injured rugby player, sponsored by the Canadian Scottish Regiment. Calling for a cast of musicians, singers, dancers and actors of the highest order, the production, directed by the author, will bring out the best of Victoria's talents and amateur and professional alike have responded generously to the summons.

More than 100 performers will appear on the stage, excluding members of the Canadian Scottish Band, the Victoria Operatic Society, the Russian Ballet School, Violet Fowler Dancing Academy and Florence Clough Dancing School, in addition to an act by the Little Theatre Association. Other turns will complete the programme.

MAE WEST AT THE COLUMBIA

Paramount's musical comedy hit, "International House," one of the most lavish, most tuneful, most amusing productions ever to leave Hollywood, opened to-day at the Columbia Theatre.

In its enormous all-star cast of stage, screen and radio favorites are Perry Hopkins Joyce, W. C. Fields, Rudy Vallee, Stuart Ervin, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Sari Marita, Colonel Stoopnagle and Budd, Cab Calloway and his orchestra, Baby Rose Marie, Bela Lugosi, Long Andre, Sterling Holloway, Franklin Pangborn, Edmund Breese and Lurene Hare.

The programme also includes a special return engagement of "She Done Him Wrong," starring Mae West.

Torchy Peden Continues to Take Spotlight in Bike Game

Gets Big Hand From Detroiters on His Latest Victory

Unfortunate Accident Keeps Joe Hauser Out of Major Ball

TORCHY PEDEN, Victoria's famous six-day bike rider, continues to steal the spotlight in big time. The big red-head ushered in the season in an auspicious manner by winning the recent race at Detroit. Peden got a big hand for his victory partaken with Stan Jackson, another Victoria rider. Newspapers in describing Peden's victory state that the local boy was picked to win from the starting gun. One daily opened its story with the following: "He isn't a human; he's a horse." Paragraphs from the same story tell of the wind-up of the race follow:

"From the start of the Detroit grind it was almost inevitable that the spectators would be won over to Peden, who could avoid accident. The experts said that no other combination approached them in riding skill and insisted on the point, even when Reggi Fielding and Lew Elder, Toronto, whirled into the lead and kept it for three days. Fielding and Elder gave way on the fourth day to Stan Jackson and Peden, another Victoria combination, but there was no weakening of the expert opinion that Peden and Jackson would be in front at the pay-off, if they don't break a leg. They'll ride those other fellows ragged when they get started," ran the comment at the track by men who know cycling at Wilmette, Hoppe

"And that is, figuratively, what happened. On Friday night Peden and Jackson climbed from seventh place to first and stayed there for three days. Jackson, however, could probably have finished farther ahead of the second team, Jimmy Walther and Frank Elliot, if full pressure had been applied. But to have done not only would have spoiled the show for the 4,000 spectators, and would also have been contrary to Peden's philosophy."

"To the casual observer, it looked as if Peden, the human horse, won as he pleased. One night when there was a number of special prizes offered by sportswriter friends, Peden seemed to step out and grab them wherever the notion struck him. He took $3 offered by a funeral director; two hands offered by a meat dealer; $5 offered by Bob Clancy; $5 offered by Hector Van Maale and several other cash prizes.

"A money lender is Peden, who arches his back, lowers his head and begins to pedal in dead earnest when most is at stake. He was guaranteed $300 for his appearance here and would have received that amount if he had been last in the standing. But he knew that a victory would enhance his reputation and he would not let that be his stop. So he set out to win when the time came and had no great difficulty in accomplishing his purpose. A showman, too, is Peden. When his victory had been acclaimed he was presented with four bouquets of flowers. He turned to his wife and said, "Keep one himself to the crowd as we go along." Jackson remounted and rode once more around the track. After he spent fifteen minutes shaking hands with friends and strangers alike, when the last one had departed, he picked up a bicycle in one hand and suit case in the other and started for a shower and his first night's sleep in a week."

"A man who has hit more home runs in a season than Babe Ruth at the peak of his batting power . . . a man still young at thirty-three . . . Joe Hauser . . . yet, he has given up his newspaper uniform and his chances for returning to major league baseball are not so good. Hauser has hit his seventy-first homer this season."

"Hauser gave brilliant promise eight years ago last spring when he appeared in the Philadelphia Athletics training camp. He was played out and called him 'Uncle Joe' . . . but in a game at Philadelphia he broke his knee cap chasing a foul fly . . . he was out all year . . . and as far as the majors are concerned was out forever . . . the knee hampered his fielding."

"There ought to be a place somewhere under the big top for 'Uncle Joe' . . . and here's hoping some ball club sees the point."

Only Miracle Can Displace Clubs As Baseball Champions

Giants Defeat St. Louis 4 to 3 and Eliminate Chicago Cubs As Contender

SENATORS WHIP DETROIT TIGERS

New York Yankees Take Pair From Cleveland; Cincinnati Makes Late Bid

New York Giants and Washington Senators stood at the threshold of baseball's throne to-day, ready to step over at a moment's notice and accept the crowns as 1933 champions of the two major leagues.

Each had disposed of all but one rival in the struggle for the pennants and the schedule to-day made it possible, with just the right combination of victories for themselves and defeats for their opponents, for both of them to clinch the flags.

Of the two, the Giants were a trifle closer to a certainty by defeating St. Louis Cardinals 4 to 3 yesterday. Two more decisions were needed to drop the game out of the race, and the Bluejays were scheduled for a double-header against the Phillies to-day, while the Giants played their second game at St. Louis.

The Senators, nine and a half games behind the New York Yankees and with ten games to go against thirteen for their rivals, needed three decisions to clinch the pennant.

And all three were on the program to-day with Washington playing against St. Louis Browns and the Yanks entertaining Chicago White Sox in a double-header. Given a double defeat to-day and a Washington triumph, the closest the Yanks could come would be this:

W. L. Pts. Washington ..... 96 54 .632 New York ..... 94 53 .631

YANKS WIN TWO

The Senators yesterday defeated Detroit Tigers 4 to 3, while the Yankees were in their two games from Cleveland Indians 3 to 2 and 6 to 1.

Chicago's Cube also won a double-header, beating Brooklyn by a 6 to 5 count in each contest—but the one Giant victory left them too far behind in the pennant race to catch up in the seven games they have left.

Cincinnati Reds threatened to climb out of the National League cellar as they took two games from Boston but were beaten 4 to 3 to end at only a point behind the idle Phillies.

The closing double-header between Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox was rained out. Philadelphia and Pittsburgh clubs in the National League and St. Louis and Philadelphia in the American League had open dates to be determined.

Motherwell, With Only Unbeaten Record, Gain Clear Lead in Scottish League

London, Sept. 18.—With both teams playing drawn games, Tottenham Hotspur and Huddersfield Town today are tied for leadership honors in the first division of the English Football League. Each team is credited with eight points. A great struggle is being waged for third place with Sunderland, Portsmouth, Leicester City, Arsenal, Manchester City and Stoke City all having seven points.

Preston North End is out in front in the second division, Crystal Palace and Peter City are bracketed at the top of the southern section of the third division and Huddersfield and Tranmere were similarly placed in the northern section.

A new ground record for White Hart Lane, home of Tottenham Hotspur, was established Saturday when the gates were closed at 57,945 persons, or more than 2,000 over the previous record. The gates were closed an hour before the start and thousands were unable to gain admission. Ambulances had their hands full attending to fainting cases.

REAT MATCH

The match proved to be a thrilling encounter. The home forwards showed fine turn of speed and the Gunners' defense was extended to the limit to hold the visitors.

The Spurs opened the scoring from penalty given against Hill for foul on Evans, the home team's outside left. Fenlon made no mistake with the kick. Bowden put the Gunners level half-time. Both teams slacked their pace after the interval with neither improving slightly. Tottenham continued to dominate the play and only brilliant work by the opposing defense prevented further scoring.

Preston North End trounced Notts Forest by four clear goals. The first half was a walkover for the Lancashire team. Barber and Hines scored with their first efforts of the season, improving slightly. Tottenham continued to dominate the play and only brilliant work by the opposing defense prevented further scoring.

Crystal Palace and Watford staged a real struggle. Turner, Simpson and Earle scored for the visitors, while Wainwright, Lane, and Barnett were the winners. Lane reducing the margin just before the interval. Earle scored again after the change of ends, Barnett and Lane replying for Watford.

Games in the northern section were featured by Walsall's second home debut in two seasons.

Barrow were the victors by a 4 to 2 out. Scott, Smyth, Murray and Hobson netted for the visitors, while Wall's goals were scored by Sheppard and Woodhouse.

Chester were winners at Wrexham through goals obtained by Hedley, who scored two, and Maitland.

Glasgow, Scotland, Sept. 18.—Motherwell overcame Aberdeen 4 to 1. MacFayden netted twice for the home team, the other goals being scored by Stevenson and Ogilvie. Warnock obtained Aberdeen's lone tally.

Dundee were responsible for Queen's Park's only win of the season. Murdoch scored the only goal of the game and this was hotly disputed by the amateurs. Fleming scored the two goals by which Rangers overcame Ayr United on their own ground.

Kilmarnock and Third Lanark each scored one goal on the Glasgow grid's fixture. He batted a 91 not out, his team winning by 124 to 2. A night by Miles with two out and the bases filled was the difference in the winning run to beat Tom Bridges the nemesis of Washington. New York gained half a game by winning a double-header from Cleveland, but the mathematical chances of Washington for the championship were not hurt appreciably, the Nationals holding a nine and one-half game lead.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

New York, Sept. 18.—Babe Ruth hit the home run trail again yesterday and Sam Van Atta and Lefty Gomez pitched straight ball to give the Yankees a double victory over Cleveland Indians 3 to 2 and 6 to 1.

Ruth hit a home in each game, his twenty-ninth and thirtieth of the season, and added an additional run in the third game, winning 6 to 1. He passed the home team, Scott, equalizing before half-time. The deciding goal was netted by Nicol six minutes from the end of the game.

Crystal Palace and Watford staged a real struggle. Turner, Simpson and Earle scored for the visitors, while Wainwright, Lane and Barnett were the winners. Lane reducing the margin just before the interval. Earle scored again after the change of ends, Barnett and Lane replying for Watford.

Winooka Flashes To Great Victory Over Muddy Track

Great Australian Horse Whips
On Rush By Three Lengths
in $5,000 Match Race

SEEKING RACE WITH EQUIPOISE

Winooka Covers Six Furlongs in Mud and Water at Longacres in 1.14

Renton, Wash., Sept. 18—Winooka, noted Australian thoroughbred, to-day held a convincing triumph over Onrush, speedy United States sprinter, after a $5,000 international match race at six furlongs Saturday. The Anza horse sprinted over a muddy track to win by three lengths in 1.14.

By his victory the champion miler of Australia more convincingly established himself as a rival to America's Equipoise, the horse Winooka came to the United States to meet, if possible.

Winooka was on the inside as the barrier was sprung and shot into the lead at the first furlong. Onrush made a courageous bid but Winooka went into the lead and the horse was never seen again, though the call from Jockey Britt by opening up with a burst of speed which widened the gap to three lengths at the finish.

Rufe Naylor, manager of Winooka's American tour, announced he had forwarded a challenge to the owners of Equipoise, for a match race somewhere in the east.

The track here, Saturday, was literally a bed of river silt and water after the rains of recent days but Winooka, in the white-starred blue silk of its owners, McDonald & Mathews, was never threatened by Onrush. A crowd of 8,000 saw the race.

LIST LOWER
AT MONTREAL

Canadian Press
Montreal, Sept. 18.—Prices on the Montreal Stock Exchange turned lower in the late trading to-day and at the close the majority of leaders were on the downside.

Hollinger, feature of the day, gained 25 cents at 107.75, while Consolidated Smelter rose 1 1/2 points at 137. International Nickel weakened and finished the day with a five-cent loss at 22.05.

Brazilian Traction declined 1/2 at 14, while Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal Power, Canadian Industrial Alcohol "A" and Alcohol "B" were all off 1/2.

BULLISH RASH

IN MINE MART

Canadian Press
Toronto, Sept. 18.—The Standard Mining Mart broke out all over to-day with bullish rash that brought back old-time animation to the brokerage board rooms. Most of the business centred in high-priced issues and some of them jumped as much as $4, spotting the board with record high prices. Similarly in the gold group, Silver and base metal shares moved up strongly also.

McIntyre was the leader with a gain of $4 to $46. Dome was close behind, selling at 38.75 for a gain of $2 and advances of 25 cents to $1 were recorded for Lake Shore, Pioneer, Hollinger, Teck-Hughes and Wright-Hargraves.

Junior golds made good gains. Renold recovered to 130.

Hudson Bay moved up to 112.5 for a gain of 75 cents but Nickel closed at 22.20, unchanged, and Noranda up 20 cents to 36.70. Base Metal Corporation was higher at 2.18.

BONDS HEAVY
LATE TO-DAY

Associated Press
New York, Sept. 18.—Bonds turned heavy late to-day under increased pressure, part of which was directed against prime issues. Secondary issues and utilities weakened under selling which was to a large extent prompted by the downward trend in stocks. Some losses ran from two to four points. American Telephone issues were among the heavy losers.

Americana is yielding more than three points and other popular electric issues found it difficult to hold their ground. United States governments also slipped although some treasury issues retained small rally gains. In Liberties, losses ranging from 1-2 to 5-32 of a point replaced forenoon advance of like extent. More active foreign issues were down from one to two points.

DRAGGY MART
AT TORONTO

Associated Press
Toronto, Sept. 18.—Call money steady, 3/4 per cent all day.

Time loans steady, 60 days 1/2%; 90 days 3/4; four months 3/4; five months 3/4; six months 1 per cent.

Prime commercial paper 1 1/4%.

Bankers' acceptances unchanged, 30 days 3/4 to 1%; 60-90 days 5/8 to 1%; four months 5/8 to 1%; 5-6 months 7/8 to 1%.

NEW YORK CURB

Associated Press
Toronto, Sept. 18.—Compared with New York's early strong advance, the Toronto Stock Exchange put on a rather draggy performance to-day but held better in the last hour when the lead board moved quite sharply.

The closing price level was down a little from Saturday.

C.P.R. at 16 was down 1/2, Nickel at 52 off 20 cents, Ford A at 14 1/4 down 1/2, and Brazilian at 13 3/4 off 1/2.

Recessions of 3/4 to 1 1/4 points were recorded for the distillery stocks. Walkers, Canadian, closed at 13 1/2, 31/2; diamond Alcools down 1/2 at 21 1/2. Distillers Seagrams at 30 off 1/2, and Brewers and Distillers off 10 at 26.00. In the beer group, Brewing Corporation, Canada Malting and Canada Bud weakened 1/4 to 1/2.

Oil shares maintained a good tone even when the general market weakened.

Are Wives Responsible for Wrecked Marriages?

Dorothy Dix

Put Blame on Both Parties

Wife Who Desires to Be Kissed Must Keep Herself Kissable, But How Can a Woman Whisper Sweet Nothings in a Man's Ear While He Reads the Newspaper?—It Takes Two to Make a Happy Marriage

A MAN asserts that 99 per cent of the women who lose their husbands do so because they do not take the trouble to keep them, and that if wives would use the same allure and make as much effort to keep their husbands fascinated as they did to get them in the first place, matrimony would be a grand sweet song instead of the scraping match it mostly is now, and it would virtually do away with divorce.

All of which is, of course, only true. Heaven knows that in this column I have stressed often enough the folly of wives throwing away the bait with which they hooked their poor fish, and warned them that there was no place between the altar and the grave in which a woman could sit down and take things easy and be certain that she had landed her catch and that it wouldn't flop back into the stream and on to the line of some other fisherman.

For a woman's selling herself to her husband isn't a stunt that she can put over once and be done with. It is a job that she has to do over again every day as long as she lives if she keeps him content with his bargain, and prevents his turning covetous eyes on the newest thing in flappers with streamline effects and fresh paint and all the new gadgets.

And, alas, only too many women never realize this. They think because the men to whom they are married once loved them they will go on automatically loving them to the end of the chapter, no matter how unattractive and disagreeable they become. They believe that the wedding ceremony marks the end of a woman's courtship of a man, instead of realizing it is just the beginning of her wooing of him if she is to keep what she has won. And all too many women are committed to the theory that marriage gives them the right to go shabby and sloppish around home, eat onions and tell their husbands home truths.

Undoubtedly if all women kept up after marriage the art and wiles with which they lured their husbands into the holy estate, it would make a tremendous difference in domestic life. For, after all, husbands are still mere men with men's natural reactions toward femininity, and it is much easier on the eyes to gaze upon a pretty, daintily dressed woman than it is upon one in a soiled kimono with cold cream on her face and curl papers on her hair.

It is much more agreeable to spend an evening at home with a wife who is cheerful and chatty and a good listener, who lends an attentive ear while her husband talks about himself and his plans and what he said to the boss and the boss said to him, than it is to be a fireside companion a wife who is a bore or a whiner or a complainer and whose only topic of conversation consists in demanding to know why he doesn't make as much money as some other man does.

Certainly the wife who wants to be kissed must keep herself kissable, the one who wants to keep her husband glad he married her must wreath matrimony with roses instead of sticking it full of thorns.

But if women so often seem to fold away the glamour of courtship with their wedding veils, the fault is not always wholly theirs. Just as often it is the man's, because he would not play up to them, and no woman can give a very convincing impersonation of a Lady Love without a lover. Juliet must have her Romeo, or else her impassioned vows become the misandries of one who has become cuckoo and is talking to herself.

No woman can whisper sweet nothings to a man who doesn't even look up from his paper, and who only grunts uh-huh when she tells him how much she loves him. No woman can put any temperature into a kiss when a man turns the rim of his ear to receive it. No woman can summon up a glad sweet smile to meet her husband when he returns home of an evening if she knows his greeting is going to be: "Say, haven't I told you a thousand times not to let the children leave their skates and bicycles in the front yard? By George, if I ran my business in the incompetent way you run a house, etc., etc., etc."

No can any woman put much pep into dolling herself up for hubby, if she knows that instead of a compliment she is going to get a knock about the money she spends in beauty shops and that instead of telling her how becoming her new frock is he is going to demand to know what it costs and raise the roof over her extravagance.

And nobody can deny that there are millions of husbands who thus trample all of their wives' romantic dreams under foot, and make it impossible for them to keep any of the glamour of courtship around marriage or to hold the pose of sweethearts.

For a woman is to her husband just what he sees her to be, and if he sees her only as a cook or a nursemaid or a whipping girl on whom he can take out his ill-temper when things go wrong in business, why, that's all she is and all she can be.

No woman alone can keep her marriage from becoming sordid. That is a two-handed job that requires the united efforts of both a husband and wife. No woman is enough of a hypnotist to keep a man in a sentimental trance against his will. He has to lend himself to her blandishments.

So it is folly to talk about wives holding husbands who want to get away, and who will not play the game. If they knew the secret of every vamp from Lillith down to Peggy Joyce, they still couldn't do it, because you can't put any pep into making love to a jellyfish or a refrigerator. And if husbands want their wives to keep the love fires burning brightly at home, they've got to furnish a lot of the fuel themselves.

The Earth's Large Cities

I—LONDON

Only about 25,000 persons make their homes in the small section of London which has a "lord mayor," but that section is an important business centre, and more than a quarter of a million persons go there each day to work in office and stores.

Among the sights in London which every visitor should see are the British museum, Westminster Abbey, the Tower of London and bridges across the Thames river. The British museum has over 1,000,000 exhibits. In its new books and written pages which present the story of writing and printing. You may read (if you know how) the words of an Egyptian who lived 5,000 years ago; and the very piece of paper, or papyrus, which that Egyptian explained to me.

English policemen are the most polite and good-natured I have found in any country I have visited. They are known as "Bobbies," a nickname which keeps fresh in memory the work of Robert or "Bobbie" Peel who trained the police force a century ago. If you take your way in London, it is easy to find a policeman who, in a most friendly manner, will put you on the right route.

The latest figures for Greater London give it a population of 8,202,000. The streets of London are thick with busses, and both the lower and upper stories of the busses are thick with passengers. NRA FUTURE WORRIES U.S.

Inflation Or Socialization Seen as Alternative If Recovery Drive Breaks Down

By Ken Clark, Canadian Press Staff Writer

New York, Sept. 18.—The United States begins this week turning a very anxious eye upon the progress of President Roosevelt's programme under the National Recovery Act.

The New York Times has a cartoon depicting a smiling gentleman bearing a banner inscribed "prices" and stepping out far in advance of an NRA parade. The caption on this cartoon typifies one of the major problems in the Roosevelt campaign—balancing of cost of living against purchasing power—"Hey, wait for the rest of the parade."

Other difficulties, the question of the open and closed shop, the question as to the permanence of the present emergency measures and the socialist question of the nationalization of banks, are topics discussed in the press, wherein appear some fragmentary information on the programme together with some specific currency questions may be necessary.

Latest figures on industrial production, the first those of the Federal Reserve Board, the second those of the Department of Labor, show a considerable discrepancy over the last few months. Taking the figures 100 as the index over the years, 1923-24, they are:

Factory Employment	Industrial Production
March ..... 55	60
April ..... 56	60
May ..... 57	77
June ..... 62.3	91
July ..... 67.3	98

Secretary Perkins of the Department of Labor reported last week a gain of 6.4 per cent in factory employment in August and it was further pointed out operations under the first NRA code adopted did not begin until July 14.

Experts expect the figure for industrial production for August to be lower than for July, running about 88 to 90.

However, it is clear these two indices have been off balance for the last few months and are probably yet considerably divorced. In short, it is extremely doubtful whether within the next few months, despite the fact wages are increasing faster than re-employment, the spending power of the people may be restored to a level capable of absorbing increased production.

OPPOSITION GROWS

At this moment when the NRA campaign enters a critical period, two elements arise to plague the administration. One consists of those who never believed in the programme for government reorganization in business, but who have only now become openly critical. The other is the inflationist group, who believe now is the psychological moment to push for currency inflation.

Last week Robert F. Lamon, Secretary of Commerce under President Hoover, resigned as president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, protesting increased governmental regulation of business. Now George M. Wickes, Attorney-General, under the NRA, has come out to demand the NRA amounts to a dictatorship which has abrogated the constitution and is laying the ground-work for state socialism.

At Chicago a few days ago Dr. Virgil Jordan, president of the National Industrial Conference Board, told the American Trade Association executives the breakdown of the national recovery administration machinery would force the government to "outright and uncompromised inflation or to outright socialism."

Leading the inflationist move in Congressional circles in Washington, Senator Elmer H. Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, announced yesterday he had polled all members and out of fifty-nine replies received fifty-six Congressmen and Senators favored inflation.

In Los Angeles William Randolph Hearst, the publisher, in an address on Saturday night, advocated "just enough inflation to overcome the deflation and get back to the happy days of 1928."

Three-foot Crack in Plate Near Keel Let Water Into Small Compartment

Yokohama, Sept. 18.—The Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada will resume her voyage to Honolulu, Victoria and Vancouver to-morrow, repaired, after a crack developed on a fractured plate which necessitated her return to a drydock here.

The 22,000-ton ship sailed for Victoria and Vancouver Friday, but storms made the defect worse. A serious leak in her bottom developed in a violent typhoon Saturday, 300 miles off the coast of China and Japan.

Ship's engineers were reported injured during the storm. For several hours the crew was unable to locate the leak and Capt. A. J. Hally, master of the ship, decided to return rather than risk endangering thirty-seven first and second class passengers, and 273 Orientals in the steerage.

Vancouver, Sept. 18.—The Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada returned to Yokohama as a "safety first" measure, Canadian Pacific Steamship officials stated here.

About a day's sailing out of the Japanese port, a three-foot crack was revealed in a plate near the keel, about midships. This let water into the small compartment of that area, between the outer and inner "skins" but not into the ship herself, it was stated.

The ship will then load at Pagan sound ports, Vancouver, and finally return to Victoria on her voyage to the Orient. She will not come to Victoria this voyage for lumber.

The Empress had a total of 800 tons of general cargo in her holds. For Victoria there were 200 tons. Seattle will get 700 tons, while 2,000 tons will be discharged at Vancouver later this week.

The ship will then load at Pagan sound ports, Vancouver, and finally return to Victoria on her voyage to the Orient.

For Victoria the ship had thirty-nine Chinese steerage passengers. Eight remained in Victoria, while the others went to Vancouver this afternoon by plane. Captain Hally will receive the former master of the ship, who went to England on Empress.

Outbound to the Orient the S.S. Iason of the same fleet passed off Victoria late yesterday afternoon on her way from Vancouver. She had a capacity cargo and several passengers.

The Empress of Canada is scheduled to arrive here from the Orient Nov. 26.
